2019 REPORT TO THE COMMUNITY

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Re-Imagining Our Future!

From record-setting festivals, to major expansion announcements, 2019 was a year filled with milestones and memories for the ArtsQuest Family! As the year began, we announced the development of an $18 million Community Cultural Center to be built on the site of the Banana Factory. The new, 80,000-square-foot building, which will serve as a gateway to Bethlehem's SouthSide Arts District, will feature among other things:

- A dynamic, arts-based Pre-K Education Program
- 125-seat Comedy Theater
- 5,000-square-foot Glass Studio
- New digital, print, fiber arts, video, woodworking and other studios
- Unique MakerSpaces where the community can come together to create and learn

As spring arrived, we were thrilled to learn that ArtsQuest's signature festivals continue to draw national recognition to our region thanks in large part to your support. In April, Musikfest was named the Top Music Festival in North America in USA Today's 10Best Readers Poll, topping festivals like Austin City Limits Music Festival and Coachella. A few months later, the festival celebrated a record year thanks to a stellar lineup, new music venues and programming enhancements, with 1.22 million attending the event during its 10-day August run.

We've really doubled down on our arts and education programming for the community in recent years. Since 2016, our arts education program has grown by 167 percent. In 2019, the organization hit another record as far as student impact, with 6,634 students taking part in educational experiences at ArtsQuest or via our outreach programs.

As the year drew to a close, the ArtsQuest Family came together at SteelStacks to announce the second major element of our capital campaign, the transformation of the 26,000-square-foot former Bethlehem Steel Turn & Grind Shop, one of the most unique buildings in SouthSide Bethlehem. As part of this major announcement, longtime partner and community leader Air Products stepped up as the Founding Corporate Partner for the campaign, pledging $1.5 million to our Cultural Center, Turn & Grind Shop and helping the Volunteer Center of the Lehigh Valley relocate to the Banana Factory. Thank you, Air Products, from all of us!

Christkindlmarkt, ArtsQuest's second signature festival, continued its strong run of recent years, joining Musikfest in being honored as one of the premier events in the nation by USA Today's 10Best when it was named one of the Top Holiday Markets in December. Topping it all off, the festival celebrated a record run, with nearly 95,000 people attending the event in November and December.

While we all love hearing these success stories, the reality is we would not be where we are today without our dedicated volunteers, sponsors, community partners, members and supporters. The efforts of all of you – now more than 5,000 strong – have helped us grow from a single event in 1984 to a year-round presenting organization that now offers more than 4,600 concerts, classes and programs annually. Imagine That!

As we 'Continue the Quest' to expand our programming in the community, we know we have much to look forward to and much to accomplish. I look forward to working with all of you on our mission and our goals for our community in the weeks and months to come.

Thank you for all your support and for helping to make ArtsQuest one of the most unique and well-respected arts organizations in the nation!

Sincerely,

Kassie Hilgert
ArtsQuest President and CEO

ONE STROKE AT A TIME

ArtsQuest Partners with Turning Point to Aid Victims of Domestic Abuse

They come needing a new start, but not necessarily sure where to turn. Through the support of caring and nurturing staff, these individuals – the majority women with small children – take the first steps in rebuilding their lives.

Thanks to Turning Point of the Lehigh Valley, more than 4,000 victims of domestic abuse and their children are offered services like counseling, support groups, the use of safe houses and more as they look to escape from violence in the home. Now, through a partnership involving ArtsQuest, Two Rivers Health & Wellness Foundation and Guardian Life Insurance of America, they're discovering a new way to express themselves and start the healing process, via the power of a brush stroke, putting pen to paper and embracing the sounds of music.

Launched in 2019, ArtsQuest's Healing Art & Music Program at Turning Point provides art experiences for women following Turning Point's model of empowering females. The first art-based healing program offered by the local Turning Point, the program is led by ArtsQuest Teaching Artist Mallory Zondag and Board-Certified Music Therapist/Teaching Artist Hilari Stahler, both of whom offer monthly programs and are trained to work with individuals experiencing all levels of trauma.

"The artists have been very caring and understand how the women are receiving this and really have bought into why we are doing this," says Linda Thomas, Assistant Director of Turning Point. "One of the comments we received was, 'The instructor was so positive and friendly - we very much enjoyed the creative process.' We are also hearing very positive comments from our teaching artists and the kids."

In recent years, Healing Art & Music Programs have increasingly been recognized as an important and effective complement to traditional methods of helping victims deal with the trauma of domestic violence. ArtsQuest's program is designed to be hands-on, providing a creative outlet and means of self-expression for individuals who are not yet ready to process and express the complex array of emotions brought on by months or years of abuse.

"We unfortunately see people at their worst – individuals who are not ready to trust and talk about their experiences; there are a multitude of emotions," says Turning Point Executive Director Lori Sywenski. "A lot of times you have had your trust violated, and it's important to bring people together to start dealing with those emotions in a safe place, but not necessarily making them talk."

"They can either express themselves artistically through visual or musical arts. This program has been able to provide an opportunity for people to bond with one another without having to verbalize their story, which is huge."

EDUCATIONAL IMPACT

Since 2016, ArtsQuest arts education programs have grown by 167 percent. Today, we present more than 95 different programs including:

ArtSmart Afterschool Enrichment for Middle Schools

New John DiFrancesca ArtSmart Scholarship Program Established

ArtSmart students are the beneficiaries of a new $1,000 scholarship made possible thanks to a $25,000 contribution from the friends of the late John DiFrancesca.

The scholarship will be awarded annually to an ArtSmart student who is interested in attending summer art camps or advanced art classes at the Banana Factory. The first recipient of the merit-based scholarship was Broughal Middle School student Serene Canty, who was presented with her scholarship during the 2019 Linny Awards.

DiFrancesca, who passed away in April 2018, was a singer, band leader and community business leader. Thank you to everyone who helped establish this new scholarship for our best and brightest students – your support is so greatly appreciated!

Supporting Our Students, Community and Region ART & MUSIC

In 2019, ArtsQuest reached the community via 4,652 programs, classes, concerts, workshops, exhibits and festivals.

This record number of music and arts programming was made possible in large part thanks to you, our invaluable sponsors, supporters and donors. Even more exciting is the fact that we were still able to offer 49 percent of these programs and performances free to our community. Thank you, from all of us at ArtsQuest!

ArtsQuest's New Emerging Artist Program

Since its opening, the Banana Factory has provided visual artists with time and space to explore their work in a supportive and thriving open studio environment. In 2019, ArtsQuest expanded the concept to up-and-coming artists with the addition of the Emerging Artist Residency Program.

Made possible through Dr. Christine Isabelle Oaklander, the program was created to provide promising young artists an opportunity to advance their own work and professional careers through access to a vibrant, community-based art center featuring modern facilities and an atmosphere of ongoing critical feedback.

During the residency, artists benefit from opportunities for professional development and collaboration with peers. They actively contribute to the Banana Factory's artistic and educational programming by participating in First Friday, being available for studio visits and tours and working in their studios during business hours.

The inaugural emerging artist was Derek Reynoso, who is studying for a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree in Ceramics at West Virginia University. While at the Banana Factory, Derek exhibited his work, taught an ArtSmart outreach class at Marvine Elementary School and led a workshop in Carving Designs in Clay. Most importantly, he had an opportunity to learn from other professional artists, having a positive influence on his work and his career.

Derek Reynoso

THE IMPACT OF THE ARTS

They came from Australia and Aruba, Texas and Tennessee, to enjoy great, free live music in the streets, parks and plazas of Bethlehem.

Starting as a small, community festival, Musikfest has grown over the past 36 years into one of the largest and most diverse music festivals in the nation. In 2019, the event attracted a record 1,226,000 people to the Lehigh Valley during its 10-day run, with guests coming from 46 states and 26 countries. Together, these guests had an economic impact of more than $77 million in the region, benefitting not only the vendors and artists at Musikfest, but also area hotels, restaurants, shops and businesses.

Christkindlmarkt, ArtsQuest's other major festival, also continues to grow and evolve, supporting a record number of vendors and small business owners in 2019. The addition of the new artisan huts, igloos and other programming enhancements to the event proved to be a hit with patrons, with a record 94,980 people from 26 states visiting the market and the Christmas City during the Christmas season.

In addition to supporting tourism and economic development efforts in the region, ArtsQuest remains committed to developing partnerships that help the organization expand its reach and grow its programming. In just one example, we partnered with Speak Up for Ben and Voices for Change on a summer-long initiative designed to raise awareness of the deadly impact addiction and the opioid crisis are having in our nation. The programs kicked off in June when artist-activist Domenic Esposito brought his Opioid Spoon Project, featuring an 800-pound opioid spoon sculpture, to SteelStacks.

Overall, ArtsQuest expanded its reach in the community by partnering with a record number of communities, businesses and nonprofit groups in 2019. These include:

Artist Garages at 520 Hamilton

A New Way to Assess Impact

In 2017, ProSocial Valuation Service (PSV) and ArtsQuest embarked on an innovative study to determine if there was any correlation between its work in the community and improvements in quality of life in the region. The results of the recently released report reveal just how important that work might be.

PSV's 18-month study shows a quantitative relationship between the presence of ArtsQuest and key aspects of well-being in the region. The research company found that in 2019 ArtsQuest created nearly $100 million in Social Capital for the Lehigh Valley.

Allocating half of ArtsQuest's annual budget to social impact and the other half to economic impact, the ProSocial Return on Investment (ROI) of ArtsQuest is 900 percent, which means for every $1 invested in ArtsQuest, it creates $9 in social capital.

The complete ProSocial report and supporting data are available online at artsquest.org.

THE ARTSQUEST FOUNDATION

The ArtsQuest Foundation – Helping to Support ‘Free’ Programming

On Nov. 14, the Lehigh Valley came together for a dazzling evening celebrating a Who’s Who of the region’s arts community at the ArtsQuest Foundation’s fourth-annual Linny Awards. A capacity crowd gathered at SteelStacks to recognize four-time Pulitzer Prize winner Carol Guzy, musician Alex Meixner, Just Born Quality Confections, David Yanoshik of St. Luke’s University Health Network, Liberty High School graduate Fatima Montero and others.

While recognizing the impact artists and the arts have on the region is the primary focus of the Linnys, the evening also helps to raise funds to build sustainability for ArtsQuest. As a community-focused nonprofit, our organization presents more than 4,600 classes, concerts, educational programs and events annually, with nearly 50 percent of these free to attend. And, although there is no charge to the community to enjoy this programming, there are costs associated with each and every one, from paying teaching artists to lead residencies in area schools, to compensating 99 percent of the acts that perform at Musikfest.

That’s why the work of the ArtsQuest Foundation is so vital. Launched in 2003, the foundation was established to support ArtsQuest and provide a vehicle for donors to offer long-term support for the hundreds of arts, culture and education programs the organization offers. To accomplish this, the foundation holds fundraising events like the Linny Awards and actively solicits gifts for four endowment funds: Musikfest and Performing Arts, Visual Arts, Education & Scholarships and Legacy Gifts.

As word of the foundation and its mission continues to spread, support for this philanthropic arm of ArtsQuest is gaining strong support. In 2019, the foundation received the two largest gifts in its history, playing a key role in helping to build long-term stability for ArtsQuest.

Leaving Your Legacy

There are several ways to support the ArtsQuest Foundation. In addition to the endowments, individuals and businesses can make charitable contributions for immediate support of ArtsQuest. It’s also possible to name the foundation as a beneficiary in a life insurance policy, IRA or by gifting a specific amount or percentage of your estate in your will or trust plan.

ARTSQUEST 2019 VOLUNTEERISM

Lending a Hand

From Musikfest to TacoFest, nearly 2,000 volunteers lend a helping hand at ArtsQuest each year.

Last year, there was a nearly 3-percent increase in total hours donated, with volunteers contributing more than 43,000 hours to help the nonprofit meet its mission.

Everyone at ArtsQuest thanks our loyal base of generous volunteers for donating their time and talents to make events like Musikfest as enriching for the community as possible. Without our volunteers, we would not be able to provide the volume and level of excellence in arts programming that we currently offer residents of our region and beyond.

Whether it's selling tickets to Christkindlmarkt so 90,000 people can have a great experience in the Christmas City during the holidays, or working to help our students learn through the arts education programs at the Banana Factory, these dedicated individuals always step up to assist!

From all of us at ArtsQuest - Thank You!
